VOL. XX.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1892.

NO. 55

LIBERTY, CASEY COUNTY.

—License was issued on the 30th ult. to Mr. Alexander Barlow to marry Miss Nancy G. Coffman.

—The republicans of this county instructed for W. W. Jones for judge and J. C. Munney for Commonwealth's attorney and F. P. Combest was appointed delegate to the convention.

—Mr. Dink Wilkinson, lately returned from Whitley county, from an expedition for the purpose of buying sheep, reports that he was in the neighborhood of a man whose wife was the proud mother of 25 children, all living except one.

—The Casey County Teachers' Institute meets here to-day. Prof. A. L. Peterman, the author of a popular work on civil government, will conduct its proceedings. The work at its sessions is expected to be interesting and profitable.

—Mrs. Janie Wash, wife of Mr. Thos. Waal, so many years county clerk of Casey, died at her home near this place last Thursday and was buried at home on Friday. She had been afflicted with paralysis for some time and the fell destroyer, consumption. She had reached the advanced age of 67 years, was a good Christian woman and was loved and respected by all of her friends and acquaintances. Her loss will be severely felt.

—On the 26th ult. Uncle Joe Napier and Robert Murphy were brought before Judge Myers and tried on a charge of disturbing religious worship at Salem church on Sunday, July 31st, some account of which was given in the Journal a few days afterwards. The trial lasted all day, many people and witnesses were in attendance and the case awakened much interest. County Attorney Q. C. Godfrey and M. E. Tarter prosecuted and George E. and J. Boyle Stone defended. The "rule" was applied to the witnesses and there were some material conflicts in the evidence. It would be tedious to detail all of the points and do exact justice to all parties, and therefore we will not attempt it. It appears that one Wesley Barton was arrested in the morning by a magistrate present and put under guard, charged with selling whisky at the meeting. About the commencement of evening services Uncle Joe went to Barton and called him to go with him and get his dinner, and he could then go home. Barton started with him and the guard followed, when a contest came up over the possession of the prisoner, causing the meeting to be broken up. Uncle Joe in his statement before the court, and it was corroborated by witnesses for the defense, said when he called for Barton to go with him, that he was under the impression that Barton was released from arrest on the promise of another magistrate present, who claimed to have the power to do so, on condition that the prisoner would leave and sell no more whisky at church. Mr. Napier claimed that he was followed by the guard, and unexpectedly assaulted, and his own actions were in repelling the assault.

—Though the Commonwealth differed in some essentials, it was made manifest that there were some technical irregularities in the arrest and tho' the meeting was broken up, it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to determine who were responsible for the disturbance, therefore I suppose the jury gave the benefit of the doubt to the accused, and it returned a verdict of not guilty.

—The nomination of Judge Sandley, recently made in our democratic primaries by such a decided majority, is conclusive that he was the choice of the democrats of the entire district and therefore should be accepted and supported most heartily as the accredited representative of our party. He is not only entitled to this support by reason of this fact, but also on his own account, as he is honest, capable and faithful and will make the district a model judge. We urge, therefore that an organization be perfected at once that will insure his election. It will not do to trust to the fact that in the past the four counties composing the district have returned a very handsome aggregate democratic majority, for the approaching election will be held by a new and untried method in our State, and it may develop some surprises for us. It certainly is the part of wisdom to be on the alert, and our committee should arrange at once for an active precinct canvass, a very thorough organization and the education of the voter in the new method of voting.—Lancaster Record-Homestead.

—Hon. Ben T. Cable, National Committeeman from Illinois, will have charge of the western headquarters of the National Democratic Campaign Committee.

—The republicans of the 29th judicial district nominated W. W. Jones, of Adair, for circuit judge and J. C. Munney, of Metcalfe, for Commonwealth's attorney.

—Fifty-six of the miners who unlawfully banded themselves together and fired on the militia at Coal Creek, Tenn., are in jail at Clinton, some of them held without bail.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—The colored members of the local post of the G. A. R. paraded the streets Saturday afternoon, headed by a brass band. The old veterans presented quite a warlike appearance.

—The trustees are in a muddle over who shall teach the public school the coming session. Misses Eliza Lusk and Dove Harris both claim to have been employed and the matter will be taken before the superintendent of public instruction.

—Miss Ida Grant accompanied Dr. Price Grant and wife on a trip to Niagara Falls. Miss Georgia Miller has returned from a pleasant visit to Cincinnati. Miss Lillie Noel leaves in two weeks for Paducah, where she has accepted a position in a millinery store. Miss Grace Klumard leaves tomorrow for Oxford, Ohio, where she will attend school. Miss Tallie Orland left Monday for Texas. Mrs. Odie Huffman and Mrs. Bettie Embry, of Louisville, are visiting Mrs. M. D. Hughes. Misses Carr and Hucker, of Richmond, are guests of Mrs. Joe Carr. Miss Merrie Wildes is visiting her cousin, Miss Isabel Owsley. Mrs. Emma Tillotson, of Flemingsburg, is here for a few days. Miss Prudence Gordon of Nelson, is at the College.

—Some time ago Frank Turner, who came here from Bell county, was fined in a number of cases for selling whisky. A crippled negro, Anderson Dunlap, who was selling for Turner, was the principal witness against him. Most of the fines were suspended, provided Turner would change his ways and sin no more. Turner swore vengeance on the negro, and while in town one night last week, fired several shots at him. A warrant was sworn out, but he had left town. Thursday afternoon Marshal Jennings learned that Turner was in town and on the notorious Battle Row. He went down after him, but Turner jumped on his horse and as Jennings' revolver refused to work, made good his escape. A young man from McCleary named Kelly was with Turner and they fired a number of shots as they galloped away. Turner sent word back that he would not be taken and Saturday Sheriff Curt Robinson took a posse and went to Turner's house, but he was not there. They went on further and captured Kelly and saw Turner in the distance, but he again succeeded in evading the officers. Kelly was brought to town and placed in jail. Sheriff Robinson is determined to arrest Turner and the posse will go after him again one day this week.

—It is obvious that the masses of the people, owing to the frequency of elections and the corrupt manner in which they are controlled, are steadily losing the interest they have heretofore taken in the politics of the country. There seems to be a general apathy in each of the four parties that have placed candidates for the presidency in the field and the leaders are calling in vain upon the people to arouse from their lethargy and rally to the support of their respective tickets. At present the interest in the Sullivan fight and the cholera has completely overshadowed the contest for the presidency, and this state, of course, is likely to continue until Sullivan or Corbett has had the life pounded out of him and it has been demonstrated that the grim monster has been successfully prevented from gaining a foothold upon our shores. Sullivan and Corbett are the heroes of the hour and Harrison and Cleveland are completely overshadowed by these noted pugilists. The ovations they receive on the line of march to the scene of conflict are far beyond those received by either of the presidential candidates. Ask the first man you meet what he thinks of the presidential outlook and the chances are nine out of ten that he will say in reply that "Sullivan will whip him." The next when asked a similar question would say that he hoped the quarantine regulations would keep the cholera from entering the country. There is another class who think that it would be better for all concerned if there was more business and less politics in the country and that there is no necessity for a general upheaval and a disturbance of the business interests of the country.

—The I. J. man was the recipient of many invitations to dine, and did so with R. A. Welsh, who traveled through the Blue-grass section for years, but who now is a merchant of Jellico.

—Whitley has her full share of lovely girls and they were all on hand Friday. Notably among them were the Misses O'Mara, of Williamsburg, and Mr. R. D. Hill's three daughters. They were very attractive to the stranger and the writer came in for a share of their kindnesses. E. C. W.

The Williamsburg Fair.

—The I. J. man, who generally takes in everything of importance in these "dear districts," attended the Williamsburg Fair Friday and as usual on such occasions, spent the day pleasantly, mingling with the masses, trying to enlarge the subscription list of the INTERIOR JOURNAL and getting in a few ducats, so as to "keep the ark a-moving." Money isn't plentiful in these days as in those of yore, but still it is some pleasure to try to get it when you are mixed with such clever people as those of old Whitley. Nine long years ago (and they do seem long to a youth of my years) I came to Whitley's capital and worked half a day or so. I neither knew nor was known in those palmy days, but notwithstanding I did a good business and returned home with money in my pockets and an unquenchable love in my heart for this people. Like the beast which is well treated, I returned, and have continued to do so again and again, at each time I have been treated not only most courteously, but well financially.

—I started out to write about the fair, but I see I have left the subject. Well, Friday was kind of an off day, but a good crowd was on hand. The show of stock was good, but the trots were very tame indeed, and a couple of racing races were on the programme and were poorly contested. The fat man's race did not come off and I suppose the bicycle race was forgotten. This is Whitley county's first attempt at a fair, though, and pardon me if I have criticized. Saturday, the last day, promised to be a big one. There were two trotting, two racing and a running race and the promise was that they would all be filled. A liberal prize of $100 was hung up for the 2:20 class.

—The usual outside games were on hand and if there were those who were not pleased it was not compulsory that they should look out either the exhibits, rings or trots. Among the side show freaks was a calf with two heads, 8 legs, 12 feet and two tails. It was a curiosity indeed and many a dime was paid its owner for a glimpse of it. It was born in Tennessee, as was its exhibitor, who had both of his legs shot off in the Confederate army and was somewhat of a curiosity himself.

—The fair grounds are located about a mile from town and are very creditable indeed. A commodious amphitheatre, stables, dining-hall and like are all put up with a view to permanency, while the track is quite a fast one—half a mile in length. Dr. Joe Gatlin, is president and fills that position well and has plenty of time left to act as judge and starter. C. H. Keeton, the clever secretary, deserves much credit for his untiring energy in attempting to make everything go on smoothly, which he did most excellently.

—The I. J. man was the recipient of many invitations to dine, and did so with R. A. Welsh, who traveled through the Blue-grass section for years, but who now is a merchant of Jellico.

—Whitley has her full share of lovely girls and they were all on hand Friday. Notably among them were the Misses O'Mara, of Williamsburg, and Mr. R. D. Hill's three daughters. They were very attractive to the stranger and the writer came in for a share of their kindnesses. E. C. W.

HUBBLE.

—Farmers, now is the time to cut your burs if you want a top price for your wool next spring. The discount on the wool will have your pastures cleaned of thistles.

—Mrs. Gardner and daughter, of Price's Branch, Me., are visiting the families of Luther and Wm. Underwood. Thomas Smith tells us he is going to give up the toll gate Oct. 1, as it is too confining. Frank Holtzclaw is in from Missouri on a visit. Squire G. P. Bright is going to Middletown to attend conference. Daniel East will move his mill in a few days to B. W. Givens' timber near here. Mrs. James Engleman is attending her sick sister in Richmond.

—S. Dunbar sold his mare that Tom Yeager has been driving, to Light Hudson for $250. The Underwoods are having their hogs fed in Garrard for 3¢ Henry Walter has sold some corn to be delivered at once to Stanford Mill Co., for $3. W. H. Underwood has sold to mountain parties a lot of baled hay to be delivered in Stanford at 60¢. Ben Willmet has bought the Eph. Smith farm, in the White Oak neighborhood, containing 40 acres, at $40. Ed White sold Sam Woods a lot of 1,100 pound steers at 3¢, and a lot of butcher stuff for Oct. 1 delivery at 2¢. C. P. Underwood bought 50 good stock ewes of Prewitt & Woods at $30.

—California has the biggest soda fountain in the world. It is a natural lake, and has $2,000,000 worth of soda in it.

—It is reported that extensive frauds in the underweighing of imported sugar have been discovered in the New York custom-house. It is not surprising that such a thing could be done under Harrison's administration?

—The famous Blue Lick Springs have been sold to a Louisville syndicate for $50,000.

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—There are 157 scholars in constant attendance at the common school.

—Mrs. G. W. Farris is very ill of heart trouble. W. C. Pitman is at Rock Castle Springs.

—Col. A. H. Clark, the only candidate for circuit judge in this district, was here Saturday and Sunday. Having no opposition he will be our next judge and no better or older one could be chosen from his party in this district.

—Mrs. James Sulfrolga, living on Robinson, hit $10 in greenbacks in a straw bed tick and in her house cleaning concluded to refill the tick, emptied it, set it afire and burned up the money before she remembered what she had done with it.

—The convention to-day, Tuesday, will be a tame affair. The "bosses" have gotten together and made an agreement giving Colson 7, Adams 4 and Wilson 3 of Laurel county's 14 votes, without any further test of strength, and resolutions to that effect will be unanimously adopted. This will save some liquor and a heap of money.

—Murringe license, since writing them up last, have been issued to the following parties: W. H. Robinson and Sarah Eversole; William Lillugh Mullins and Martha Pointer; J. H. Hunley and Rosa Jones; Farmer Collet and Nancy Redmon; W. H. Payne and Sarah M. Proffitt; H. O. Mullins and Lily J. Wilson; W. A. Herron and Sarah Bustle; Jesse Mullins and Martha B. Polly.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Marriage is somewhat of a failure at Paducah. Court is some time off and yet 16 suits for divorce have already been filed for.

—The marriage of Dr. Daniel Maves Bowman, editor of the Sun, and Miss Cicely de Graffenreid McCaw, of Fayette county, will take place at St. John's Episcopal church, in Versailles, on Wednesday, September 21st, at high noon. No cards will be issued, but a general invitation is extended to their friends to be present.—Woodford Sun.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—Robert W. Smith, a brother of L. T. Smith, of this county, died in Louisville last week of paralysis. He left a wife and two children.

—Squire Christopher Brown, aged 75, of the Kingsville neighborhood, better known as "Kit Brown," died Thursday night. He had the grip last winter, from which he never fully recovered, and which finally caused his death. He had held the office of magistrate for more than a quarter of a century and was highly thought of by his neighbors.

—Mrs. Elizabeth, relict of the late John M. Richardson, is dead at Somersett. She leaves three daughters, one son, four brothers and one sister—Mrs. L. D. S. Patton, Mrs. A. M. Girdler, Miss Alice Richardson, Mr. C. M. Richardson and Messrs. C. W. and Albert Adams, of Somersett, Mr. Joshi Adams, of Boyle county, Mr. Will Adams, of Stanford, and Mrs. Alice Adams, of Danville. The Republican says: "Mrs. Richardson was 53 years of age and had been a member of the M. E. Church South for a number of years and she passed through life loved by all who knew her. She was a woman of the gentlest and sweetest disposition; to know her was to love her."

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., SEPTEMBER 6, 1892.

W. P. WALTON.

The average writer thinks he is not doing his duty unless he abbreviates half the words of his contributions to the press. This is quite annoying to the editor, who has to go over it all and make a blue mark around the contracted words to remind the printer to spell them out, or write them himself in full, if the contractions are obscure. It is our custom to edit the copy sent to this office and see to that and other corrections, but last week we were sick and filed a communication without reading it. The printer, who had been taught to "follow copy even if it flies out of the window," did so, and the result was horrifying. The Holy Ghost was spoken of as H. G. and the Deity barely escaped appearing as J. Christ. Contributors, for the sake of Him just referred to, and for our sake, please take time to write out what you want to say.

One of the greatest democratic demonstrations ever seen in Kentucky was at Herndon Friday, when the people of his native land put the big pot into the little one to welcome Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, who seems destined to preside over the next U. S. Senate. Over 6,000 people were present and the welcome was most enthusiastic. Mr. Stevenson's speech was chiefly devoted to the tariff. He put the democratic platform in a nut-shell when he said, "We are first for an economically administered government, a tariff for revenue only and against those menaces to a free people, the infamous force bill."

Gov. Brown seems to be quite handy with his pardon machine. He has released 86 convicts in less than a year, while Gov. Buckner only pardoned 110 during the four years of his administration. Governors may have better facilities for obtaining evidence than juries and may have more knowledge of law than the judges, but we rather doubt both propositions. It is the hardest of hard matters to convict the average law-breaker and when occasionally he does get justice, it is not reassuring to the law abiding public to have the governor turn them out to go and sin again.

In these times of cholera and bowel troubles it would be well to remember the famous New York Sun cholera cure, for which it is claimed that no one who ever used it in time ever had the cholera. It is also said to be an excellent remedy for ordinary summer complaints. The formula is as follows: Equal parts of tincture of cayenne pepper, tincture of opium, tincture of rhubarb, essence of peppermint and spirits of camphor. Mix well. Dose 15 to 30 drops in a little cold water, according to age and violence of symptoms, repeated every 15 or 20 minutes until relief is obtained.

The Woodford Sun describes Col. Bennett H. Young flying up the Louisville Southern writing editorials for the Post and entertaining a pretty girl, both at the same time. The venturesome colonel may be forced to the necessity of writing under such circumstances, but we rather incline to the opinion that most, if not all of the editorials of his excellent paper are evolved from the think-tanks of Will Flanley and Charley Price, who can give a majority of writers two in the game and then beat them.

EDITOR EMERSON, of the Russellville Ledger, rises to remark in language not so plain to the average layman, as follows: "The languor of the summer day is dead; the subtle suggestiveness of the silent summer night is a sweet memory only—old Bethel and old Logan throw open their portals to-morrow and the boys and girls will be called to books. Farewell, a long farewell, to all our solitude."

JUDGE M. C. LITTLE, of Winchester, was nominated for Congress in the 10th district on the 63d ballot. The convention was held at Irvine and lasted three days. His competitors were Sublett, of Magoffin, Brooks, of Montgomery, and Bowles, of Pike county. Harmony prevailed throughout the meeting and everybody is in good trim to support the nominee, who is said to be a good man.

H. L. HOWARD announces "with confidence" that he has assumed the editorship of the Harlan Republican. He ought to have added also "with shame," at least that's the way it strikes us a man would feel editing a republican paper in this good democratic land of ours. Come over on the Lord's side brother, and you won't feel so diffident.

Gov. J. R. HINMAN tells the Columbia Spectator that while he is not a seeker for the rather empty honor of the democratic nomination for Congress in the 11th, he will accept it if tendered him and make an active canvass. The governor is a power in his country and stranger things than his election, if nominated, have happened.

While the Old World is sending us ship loads of cholera, we are returning them good for evil by shipping them cargoes of gold. Saturday $2,600,000 of the precious metal was shipped from New York.

The dreaded cholera seems determined to get a foothold in this country. Two more steamships, the Rungia and Normannia from Hamburg, arrived at the New York harbor Saturday with from 10 to 15 cases each on board, besides having several deaths en route. The vessels were placed in quarantine and the mails, after being fumigated were brought ashore. The president has issued a proclamation forbidding any ship landing at our ports from a foreign country until it has undergone the quarantine regulations. It is getting rather late in the season for the scourge to affect us much this year, but we may expect to suffer its ravages next year. The cleanest town will fare the best. Begin now to thoroughly clean up and disinfect.

Jim MCKENZIE said in a speech at the big Herndon gathering in honor of the next vice-president, that there is no reason why a man who had been scared during the war should draw a pension, neither should the one who had been hurt by falling off a baggage wagon during a retreat. Correct you are, Quinine, eminently so, but unfortunately that class of cattle form a large number of pensioners on this great and paternal government of ours.

Good Dr. Woods, of the Gen. Ass., sends us word to read that "address" more and the Courier-Journal less and we might have different opinions as to the (governor's) veto. This is another case of a doctor refusing to take his own prescription. He has been forced to admit that he had not read it himself, although his name was attached to it. We really fear our old friend is going to the bad since he got hayseed in his hair.

The Homestead, which Mr. J. R. Marrs started at Lexington sometime since, did not prove the financial success that he had fondly cherished, so its publication was discontinued and the type and presses brought back to Lancaster, where the Record-Homestead will hereafter appear. The first issue reached us Saturday and like all of Bro. Marrs' publications is a typographical beauty as well as well edited.

The presidential campaign, the cholera scare and everything else have been shelved by the newspapers to give room for accounts of every movement of Sullivan and Corbett, who are to fight for the championship of the world at New Orleans to-morrow. The papers are chock full of the disgusting business and it makes them sell like hot cakes, it must be the kind of matter the average citizen wants.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The House of the General Assembly refused by a vote of 27 to 41 to pass the corporation bill over the governor's veto.

A new revenue bill prepared by the revisory committee was presented in the House and ordered printed. It is claimed that it is a satisfactory compromise between the objection of the governor and the pet features of those who clung to the vetoed bill.

The claim is made that the death rate of the city has been reduced fully 50 per cent. through this method.

Mr. Moody continues to condemn the prevalent whisky drinking habits, and suggests that the whisky sellers should give up the business even if they starve as a consequence, adding, "It would be a splendid testimony for a man to leave behind him that he died because he would not sell whisky and help ruin his fellowmen." How far Mr. Moody's words have led to any diminution of the traffic or of the drink habit, reports do not say, but there is uniform testimony to the interest which the services have everywhere aroused.

How SUE PUT IT.—"Yes, indeed," said Miss Brecker, "the early bird catches the worm."

"It does seem to be an incontrovertible fact," said Miss Emerson, of Boston, "that the anticipatory avis secures the prematurely active vermicular specimen." —Judge.

A truthful rural editor tells of a farmer who raised 1,000 bushels of popcorn last year and stored it in a barn. The barn caught fire, the corn began to pop and filled a ten-acre field. An old man in a neighboring pasture had defective eye sight, saw the corn, thought it was snow, and laid down and froze to death.

WHILE Eb Doty was riding from Crab Orchard a few days ago, his horse stumbled and fell and his neck striking on a rock it snapped like a pipe stem. Mr. Doty, who is a brother of a former contributor to our columns, Mrs. Clare Doty Taylor, was badly hurt about the head and the chances are against his recovery.

STANFORD FEMALE COLLEGE will throw open its doors at 8.30 this morning for what promises to be a most successful session.

The teachers have all arrived, Miss Olivia W. Summers, of Abingdon, Va., with her sister, Miss Jennie, being the first to come. Miss Summers is a graduate of Stone-wall Jackson Institute, in the literary course, and of art in Miss Baldwin's school at Staunton, Va., being one of only six who have ever graduated there. She is a daughter of Col. Summers, of the noted 60th Virginia Confederate regiment, and she comes highly endorsed both as a teacher of art and eloquence. Miss Kate F. Worley, of Nashville, arrived yesterday. She will complete a course at the Peabody Normal College. Misses Louis Tipton and Gertrude Carroll Howard, of Dyersburg, Tenn., and Ghent, Ky., also arrived yesterday. They have been with the institution two years each in the departments of mathematics and Latin and music, and have established reputations as excellent and painstaking teachers. Miss Howard took another course in the Conservatory of Music, Cincinnati, this summer, and still further perfected herself in the divine art. They are both cordially welcomed back by the patrons of the school and others, who hold them in high esteem. With the principal, Prof. J. M. Hubbard, in the schools of mental and moral science and ancient languages and his accomplished wife in English literature, natural science and modern languages, the faculty is one of the very best in Kentucky and the school ought to enjoy the most successful session in its history.

—Three of Gen. S. Bolivar Buckner's staff of Confederate officers afterwards became bishops in the Episcopal church. Lieut. Col. Galleher rose to be bishop of Louisiana, Capt. Elliott to be bishop of Texas and Capt. Harris to be bishop of a Northern diocese. Another member of this celebrated staff, Adjutant and afterward Brig. Gen. Shoup, is now a D. D. noted for his piety.

"Ah, can I hope, Viola?" said the young lover. "There is no apparent reason, Mr. Hamilton," responded Miss Backway, severely, "why you are mentally incapable of hoping, as you would seem to imply by the use of the auxiliary verb 'can.' But if, as I infer, you meant to make your interrogation in the potential mood and inquire whether you may hope, I should say no, you may not." —Chicago News.

ONE OF US TWO.

TO W. P. W.

The following beautiful lines by Ella Wheeler Wilcox were called to mind by a similar touching poem recently published in the SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL, and taken from the scrap-book of his deceased wife by the editor of that paper. The thought so vividly presented here must some day occupy the mind of every devoted husband and wife, and to them as well as to him to whom it is more especially presented, this poem is earnestly commended:

The day will dawn when one of us will hearken
In vain to hear a voice that has grown dumb;
And moans will fade, noons pale and shadows
darken;

While sad eyes watch for feet that never come,

One of us two must sometime face existence
Alone with the memories that but sharpen pain;
And these sweet days shall shine back in the distance,

Like dreams of summer dawns, in nights of rain;
One of us two, with tortured heart half broken,
Shall read long-treasured letters through salt
tears;

Shall kiss with anguish lips each cherished token,
That speaks of these loved-grown delicious years,

One of us two shall find all light, all beauty,
All joy on earth, a tale forever done;
Shall know henceforth that life means only duty—
Oh! God! Oh! God! I have pity on that one!

The above, which is reproduced from the Richmond Register is sincerely appreciated. The kind friend who inserted it has passed through the dark valley in the shadow of the death of a beloved wife, and knows as no other person, who has not similarly suffered, can, the all-absorbing, all-pervading and overpowering weight of grief and dreary desolation that consumes almost the very vitals. A good wife is God's best gift to man and the loss of such an one is the severest trial any one can undergo.

before last.

—In 1874 when Goldsmith Maid trotted in 2:14, horsemen throughout the country predicted that a faster mare would never be trotted. Then followed a series of performances that relegated the famous mare into the realm of back numbers—Barus, St. Julian, Mand S., and Suul. Now Nancy Hanks obscures them all. How long will she remain queen?

—A FAIR.—A married Man once got gay. He felt his oats, as they said in those days.

He staid out late one night to hear Election Returns. At least that was what he was going to tell his Wife. His Wife was not born yesterday and just about knew her Business.

When the Married Man entered the House his Wife took him for a Burglar and shot him through the Neck.

This Fable teaches that Married Men are not necessarily first-class Risks for Life Insurance.

N. B.—His Wife forgave him before he died, thus rendering it possible for this Fable to be written.

TO W. P. W.

For many years Mr. R. F. Thompson, of Des Moines, Iowa, was severely afflicted with chronic diarrhea. He says: "At times it was very severe; so much so that I feared it would end my life. About seven years ago I chanced to procure a bottle of Dr. Collier's Diarrhea Remedy.
It gave me prompt relief and cured me permanently, as I now eat or drink anything I please without harm. I have also used it in my family with the best results." For more by Dr.
